

VESELKA - UKRANIAN 27/7

June 28, 2010

One of the greatest things about New York City is the ability to source any type food you desire at a moment's notice - even at 3am. Veselka has been around since I was a kid and I am happy that it is still going strong. This long-standing East Village eatery is open 24-7 and serves up hearty platters of delicious Ukrainian Pierogi, Sweet and Savory Blintzes and hearty vegetable soups. If you are looking for something a bit lighter they have a HUGE menu that serves up all the traditional diner favorites like scrambled eggs, pancakes, salads and sandwiches. Its a perfect little spot for a quick easy breakfast or lunch with kids. It also sits on the corner of one of my favorite blocks in New York...9th street between 1st and 2nd Avenue which is home to a bunch of small boutique shops, including a sweet little toy shop called Dinosaur Hill. (Image from Flickr)

Nearby Playground: Tompkins Square Park

Category: East Village, Eat, Where

DINA | NO COMMENTS
